

COHESION AWARD WINNERS – January 2025

Faye Booth :1st Place – Prize Draw: She attended to a citizen on the bus and assisted with an incident in a calm and respectful manner.

Charlotte Ham: She has worked hard over the past few weeks to really improve her punctuality and she surprised a friend on her course when it was her birthday by bringing in a card, gifts and cake. It was a lovely gesture and one which was really appreciated by her friend and the group alike.

Philomena Aku Bassaw & Maryjane Chukwuka: 2nd Place – Prize Draw: They assisted a member of Staff and helped to carry her bags when she was overloaded.

Sajiya Bhana : 3rd Place – Prize Draw : She is always on time to classes, and shares her resources with other students, who are far less prepared! Sajiya is an example of what a good classmate should look like.

Ollie McCoy: Assisting another learner in a time of need.

Archie Mcclumpa: Archie was extremely helpful in the workshop when he assisted Staff in dismantling some key components required for an Apprenticeship class. He achieved his task with dedicated disciplined professionalism.

Elisha Harrison: Elisha attended a Cabin Crew trip and was very confident and friendly even though she did not know anyone. She volunteered multiple times to take part in the activities and asked lots of questions to the trainers on the day. Elisha also made new friends on the trip and spent the day with them during the training. She was also sat with them at lunch when she noticed another Level 3 student sat on her own eating lunch. Elisha went over to the Level 3 sat alone and invited her over to sit with her and her new friends. This was amazing to witness, and set examples to other Level 3's how to treat people.

Kaci-Lee McGuigan: She has been a great support to her peers on the course, encouraging them to attend maths classes as well as offering peer support on difficult tasks. Kaci is such a positive influence on her peers.

Joshua Houghton: Staff have seen a massive improvement in Josh's behaviour and attitude in the last couple of months.

Sam Worswick: He re-arranged a group of chairs back to their original location. He did this of his own volition without being asked which was a fine example to others.

Max Cook: For an act of kindness.

Callum Emmett: His positive attitude, polite behaviour and strong work ethic truly sets him apart from the group. He has approached everything with dedication and respect, and he often stays behind to help Staff tidy up the classroom at the end of the lesson.

Alex Gallagher: He is a great learner who is always punctual, works hard, completes extension work and always goes the extra mile.

Josh Johnson: He voluntarily cleaned up a drink spilled by another learner.

Silar Mowles & Aiden Halsall: For helping with the design of the Mural in the Atrium.
